Sponsorship Opportunities

EuroSys is the premier European conference on systems software research and development, including its ramifications for hardware and applications. It covers operating systems, databases, real-time systems, networking, storage, middleware, and distributed, parallel, and embedded computing. EuroSys is highly selective, with historical acceptance rates typically below 20%, and attracts leading scientists and practitioners from around the world. We expect 400–500 attendees at EuroSys'27.

Why sponsor? Sponsoring EuroSys gives your organization visibility and name recognition among the world's top systems researchers and engineers. It also helps our community grow, bringing new ideas, more attendees, greater visibility, and stronger funding for research. EuroSys is a key venue for recruiting talent and sustaining the pipeline of students at every level of study. Sponsors receive the contact details of student attendees who opt in to share their information at registration. Industry support has long been a cornerstone of the conference's success.

Fund Uses: Sponsorships provide financial support for students by covering their registration, travel, and lodging. They fund the social events where most networking happens and where new collaborations between industry and academia often take shape. Finally, they help us keep registration fees affordable.
